5 #WHY_INTERLANGUAGE?
7 #ACCURATE_AND_FLEXIBLE
9 #TRANSLATIONS
11 #TECHNICAL_DOCUMENTATION
13 #WEB
15 #DESKTOP_PUBLISHING
17 #INTERPRETING_AND_CONGRESSES
19 #MULTIMEDIA
21 #TERMINOLOGY_MANAGEMENT
#WHY_INTERLANGUAGE?
It is through its communications that a company presents itself to the world; they are its voice and create its image, anywhere and in any language. Wherever you want to get your message across, interlanguage is by your side.

Nowadays, the circulation of information in a variety of foreign languages is not just a corporate need; it is part of everyday routine. interlanguage assists its clients in dealing with this imperative with all the experience and professionalism gained since its foundation back in 1986. First and foremost, our team of linguists focus on acquiring all relevant information about clients, through in-depth analysis of their corporate language, technical terminology and individual requirements. This effective groundwork will then enable us to transfer meanings and concepts correctly across different languages, faithfully reflecting the linguistic and cultural context in which each concept originates.

Thanks to the synergy created when it joined the Transline group in 2019, interlanguage can count on a solid network of thousands of meticulously selected translators, and it adopts the latest IT tools. We can easily manage large-scale projects, always focusing our attention on the client and continuously providing reliable language services. What’s more, a well-established customer base of top-ranked corporations both in Italy and abroad, especially in Switzerland, makes interlanguage the ideal partner for any company with a global presence.

#ACCURATE_AND_FLEXIBLE
Translating demands dedication, creativity and hard work from everyone concerned. For the very best results, interlanguage has created a well-defined but flexible organisation, capable of adapting to each individual client’s needs with accuracy guaranteed.
interlanguage provides companies with translations of texts of all kinds into any modern language: technical, scientific, legal, financial and advertising translations. Through efficient management of the whole translation process, we guarantee excellent quality at all times. All our translations are by highly skilled translators working only in their individual mother tongues and areas of specialisation. We support our translators’ professional expertise with sound in-house linguistic backup: in-depth knowledge of each client’s individual needs, products and corporate language enables our revisers and project managers to provide translators with all the information they need to deliver accurate, effective translated texts. Revisers perform a thorough check on every translation and the relative file layout. All our revisers are trained translators. Project managers are in charge of the project overall, coordinating communications between translators, revisers and the IT/DTP department and acting as contact for the client. They play a key role in multilingual project management. Like revisers, they are qualified linguists, combining these skills with specific professional expertise in quality management systems and computer-assisted translation (CAT) tools. Our translation service is certified in compliance with the ISO 17100:2017 standard.

A good translation is the result of great teamwork. Together, specialist translators, revisers and project managers produce the added value that makes a translation outstanding.
Managing technical documentation efficiently is an everyday challenge for a company. Manuals are updated over time and translated versions are not always maintained in line with the originals. Content Management Systems (CMS), which rationalise the process through the use of computer-assisted translation (CAT) tools, provide invaluable aid to companies and technical writers alike. Starting from files in any format (docx, idml, xml, etc.), interlanguage builds customised translation memories for every client; these enable translated texts to be recovered for subsequent projects and also generate glossaries of industry- and client-specific terminology. This ensures consistency of both style and terminology.

Moreover, giving translators and revisers online access to memories and glossaries allows large volumes of work to be dealt with in shorter times, with guaranteed access to the latest, most correct version of every text. interlanguage is a member of COM&TEC, the Italian Technical Communications Association. We are always up to date with the industry’s latest tools and trends. As translators, we actively contribute to the exchange of ideas and information with the world of technical writing.

The management of multilingual manuals requires the most advanced IT tools. You can send us your texts in any format. We will take it from there.
A website in only one language is like an unfinished work of art. The interlanguage team is ready to help you complete it. We can translate your web contents by downloading them straight from the CMS used (WordPress, Joomla, Magento and Drupal to name just a few) and be a valuable partner for web agencies. What’s more, we apply SEO techniques, essential for transforming a website from a mere showcase into an effective business tool.

Nowadays, the web also includes apps and social media. A properly translated app is much more likely to be downloaded and become popular with users. In this case, translation becomes localisation, requiring specific knowledge of the culture of the target country.

Social media posts require the same linguistic care: we are able to translate your posts fast, and in line with your editorial styleguide. We are also experts in corporate intranet translation, trustworthy partners in conveying your messages to employees and partners.
Brochures, catalogues, product datasheets, labels and operator manuals: if they are not in Word, PowerPoint or Excel format, the translation of these documents requires additional desktop publishing work, especially when the target language presents features different from those of the source language. The interlanguage linguists will come to your aid, using their knowledge and expertise to apply the graphic conventions of target languages, the correct hyphenation rules, and font technical and compatibility features in any alphabet, ensuring an impeccable final layout.

In particular, we have impressive skills in DTP in Asian and Middle-Eastern languages (Arabic, Hebrew, Farsi, Urdu, Hindi, Chinese, Japanese and Korean).

interlanguage offers desktop publishing services for all programs now on the market, including Adobe Creative Cloud, FreeHand, Quark XPress, FrameMaker, AutoCAD and many others, in both Mac and Windows versions.

The latest computer-assisted translation (CAT) tools minimise the time needed to export the text for translation and re-import it into the original layout, also generating cost savings for you.

We can also send texts to your foreign subsidiaries for approval prior to final drafting and printing. A one-stop shop for your marketing or engineering department.

Desktop publishing in an unknown language involves many potential pitfalls. Our team of graphic experts and linguists can help you achieve the very best outcome.
In international business, your interpreter speaks for you. Choose him or her with care.

Conducting business abroad implies communicating in languages other than your own. interlanguage guarantees correct, effective communications: we choose the most suitable interpreter for you, in Italy or abroad, paying utmost attention not only to the necessary language skills, but also to approach and personality. Affinity, confidentiality and industry-specific experience are essential for your interpreter to become your spokesperson, wherever you are and in any context:

- Negotiations
- Training courses
- Factory tours
- Court hearings
- Exhibitions and congresses
- Videoconferencing
- Digital events

The interpreting service is also able to provide conference interpreters for simultaneous and consecutive interpretation, together with the hire of simultaneous translation systems, complete with booths, headphones and technical assistance, as well as a support service to help you choose the most suitable solution for the specific event’s requirements. Our interpretation service is certified in compliance with the Italian UNI 10574:2007 quality standard.
#MULTI_MEDIA
Market demand for the translation and localisation of multimedia content is constantly growing, in terms of both volume and variety: industrial, promotional and corporate videos, audioguides, presentations, tutorials, webinars, apps, interviews, real-time coverage, etc. Interlanguage is the ideal partner for the localisation of your multimedia contents. We supply a complete post-production service, from subtitling, including translation and insertion in the original video, to voice-over and dubbing. With a network of professional voice-over artists all around the world, we can select the best voices for your target audience and product, in any language and regional variant.

Our linguist team checks all audio and video material to deliver multilingual versions of outstanding quality, while our graphic department takes care of the layout, to guarantee that subtitle text is correctly positioned.

We are now definitely in the digital age. Communication is evolving to become multimedia.
#TERMINOLOGY_MANAGEMENT
Every company has its own specific vocabulary of precise, unique technical terms, which need to stay the same in each and every document, whether product technical datasheets, manuals, brochures or websites. It is difficult to maintain this uniformity and quite often the same word is translated in different ways. If documentation is managed with a Content Management System, which breaks it down and only exports the texts that need to be changed for translation, the overall vision of the text is lost.

Glossaries are systematically maintained by our in-house team of revisers/terminologists and made available to translators for each new translation project.

There is a right word for everything. We apply the most precise, appropriate, consistent technical terminology to all your documents.